DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 1-17 are allowed.
2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:
 - a. Applicant discloses a systems and methods for effecting online financial transactions between individuals or between individuals and entities such as banks, merchants and other companies. The present invention is particularly useful for effecting person-to-person financial transactions. According to the invention, each user accesses a fund exchange server to establish an online account, which is used to transfer funds to and from other entities online accounts. An online account is generally a stored value account representing funds held in an account for the user at an affiliated financial institution. Each account, whether an individual account or a corporate account, can have one or more sub-accounts associated therewith. To fund an online account, funds can be transferred to the online account from a funding account, e.g., credit card account, direct demand account (DDA), checking or savings account, or other account, or from another online account'. To withdraw funds, money can be transferred to a funding account. An account verification procedure requires that a user enter information sufficient to effect financial transfers to and from a funding account. The system deposits one or more small amounts into the funding account, and queries the user to enter the amount of each deposit. If the amounts match, the account is considered verified. Applicant's inventive concept is novel and innovative in the sense that it automatically sending a verification electronic message to the first user if the transfer request did not originate from the first
